Resolution

WHEREAS, The House at Palm Bay, formerly known as The House of Prayer, Brevard County Parks and Recreation and several community business partners have recognized the importance of providing a positive venue for residents and children to celebrate Christmas; and

WHEREAS, what makes the Christmas Extravaganza so special is that there is no cost to attend; everything is free to the public; from cotton candy and hot dogs, to live music and fun activities for kids; and the sponsors of this annual event have committed to serving others during this Christmas season and giving back to their community in order to make a difference in someone's life; and

WHEREAS, Senior Pastor Ken Delgado of the The House at Palm Bay said, "At this time, especially at this season, when economic difficulty has been rampant, there's only a small window of opportunity to bring out the smiles in children's faces; to see the business community come together and create a venue where families can find hope and joy, it's really an example of the kind of peace and love as expressed to us through the life of Jesus Christ 2000 years ago"; and

WHEREAS, this wonderful event, will take place Saturday, December 20, 2014, at 12:00 p.m. at the Max K. Rodes Park, 3410 Flanagan Avenue, West Melbourne, and will provide an uplifting message of hope during this Christmas season as so many families are still facing difficult challenges; and
